When we started our business we had problems with our phone system which the supplier was unable to resolve. I met with Phoenix and they quickly and simply explained why they thought we were experiencing problems. We therefore took the decision to switch supplier and we haven't looked back. Our phone system and broadband now works properly and we have local support on hand if we have any queries.
Wai Lam, Belvoir Lettings, Brighton

As an independent business it's imperative that our business appears professional at all times. The cloud telephony services supplied by Phoenix helped reduce our costs and raise our profile whilst easily allowing me to monitor my inbound and outbound calls. In addition our system can grow organically with our business, without needing to update expensive phone system hardware.

Working with Phoenix Communications has been great for our business, not only did we save money from our previous contract but we received a much better service. We also have the physical support of a human being in the event a visit is required to the office.
